Dr. A. B. Foster, chairman of the Memorial Day program here Saturday, announced today that all arrangements for the event have been completed, and that the celebration will follow the same general plan as has been in force for years here.

The veterans and patriotic organizations will assemble in the vicinity of the Legion Home at 9
a. m. and will march from thence to the Penn Theater on Mercer street, where the program of the day will take place, on arrival.

Judge Chambers Speaker
Judge James A. Chambers will be the principal speaker and during the course of the program, T. Wil-

PA NEW OBSERVES

If you are in the anticipated heavy traffic on the highways in the week end holidays, do your part to make conditions safe and sane. Drive carefully.

Another frost was reported here last night. Many gardeners and flower growers took precaution to cover tender plants with paper or boxes last night, anticipating the temperature drop.

The West Side public park presents an attractive appearance at the present time. It appears to be much improved over recent years.

In addition to the baccalaureate service for the New Castle senior high school on Sunday evening, the Union and Shenango high schools will also have a similar service.

Heaters were fired in many homes once again this morning. It had been anticipated that there would be no further need for this task until fall.

With an abundance of flowers this year, local cemeteries will present a beautiful appearance, as relatives gather to honor the memory of their loved ones by placing flowers on their graves.

While little frost was in evidence in the city this morning, rural residents report that there was a heavy frost in the outlying districts, which did considerable damage.

Police Watch Roads
For Ohio Hi-Jackers

Police of state, county and city, this morning watched all roads leading into the city for the possible arrival of Ohio hi-jackers in two cars, reported armed with machine guns and a sawed-off shotgun.

They were alleged to have hijacked a transport of liquor at the junction of Routes 62 and 64 in Ohio and to have dumped the driver of the truck at Masury.

The truck and trailer carried Ohio license plates and the liquor was consigned to State liquor stores in Youngstown and vicinity.

There were eight hi-jackers according to the teletype message.

DETROIT, May 29—A strange lake tragedy, with two and possibly three men drowned, was reported to police today after a new cabin cruiser and a smaller, 25-foot boat were believed to have collided in Lake St. Clair, near here.

Philip Lewis and E. J. Brenizer, both of Detroit who were reported to be aboard the cabin cruiser when it left Algoma where it was purchased only yesterday, were missing and believed drowned.

A man seen clinging to the side of the overturned, smaller boat three miles off Peche Island in the lake, was reported drowned as the crew of a freighter tried to rescue him.
Whether he was on the smaller boat or might have been Lewis or Brenizer thrown into the water was a matter of conjecture, police said.

Lewis' boat was found today running in wide circles with no one aboard. There was a large dent in it, indicating a collision with a smaller craft, it was said.

An army airplane dropped flares over the lake before dawn and took off again on a daylight flight but could find no trace of the men. The steamer, H. S. Wilkinson, first reported the tragedy. It messaged its crew saw the man clinging to the overturned boat but by the time it launched a small boat the man had disappeared, apparently drowned.

Relief Checks Expected To

HARRISBURG, May 29—Refusing to touch an $845,000 unused portion of the May relief allocation, Relief Director Karl De Schweinitz prepared his administrative machinery today to speed relief checks to Pennsylvania's 600,000 jobless when and if the legislature breaks its deadlock over the June appropriation Monday night.

The cash bill for unemployment relief will be bare after midnight Sunday, but the May surplus of $845,000 "cannot and will not be used for June needs," Dr. Schwein-itz declared.

No Ruling Asked

The director asserted he had not asked Attorney General Charles J.
Margoliotti for a ruling on the legitimacy of falling back on the May balance to keep relief flowing next week until the legislature can act.
While the assembly stood adjourning following Wednesday's tempestuous session, the staffs of the state emergency relief administration began a "zero-hour vigil," preparing relief orders in advance to meet any favorable action by the two houses.

"We will have everything ready," De Schweinitz said. "All we'll need is word that the legislature has acceded and the machinery being set up between now and Monday will begin to function. We'll keep our staffs throughout the state working all night long Monday if necessary so that there will be the least possible delay in providing for the needy."

DETROIT, May 29—Balked at many turns in their drive against night-riders of the Black Legion, Michigan authorities today prepared to invoke the state's broad syndicalism law to stamp out the secret cult, forecasting a possible whole-scale roundup of Black Legionnaires.

While one-man grand jury probes were ordered in two counties and Detroit police launched an investi-

4,000 members were hooded terrorists, Prosecutor Owen Dudley of Cass county said today he would confer with Michigan Attorney General Crowley over plans to use the Syndicalism Law, which would carry long penitentiary terms and fines on conviction.

"Any persons who by word of mouth or writing advocates or pro-teaches the duty, necessity or propriety of crime, sabotage, violence or other unlawful methods of ac-reform, is guilty of violating this statute," he said.

He recalled the "blood oath" of the night-riders.
Michigan Attorney General Crow-

Judge James E. Chenot in Detroit where circuit court judges, sitting en banc yesterday appointed Judge Chenot to conduct a one-man grand

Finances Now

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 29—An inquiry by the federal government into the financial affairs of Black Legion chiefs appeared certain today.

Elmer Irey, chief of the internal revenue bureau's intelligence unit, whose agents sent Al Capone to prison for income tax violations, announced he will give careful consideration to reports from Michigan that hint of possible tax evasions by leaders of the notorious cult.

Detroit Prosecutor Duncan C. Mc-Creia requested the internal revenue bureau to check the incomes of Black Legion heads. McCreia also appealed to Attorney General Cummings for aid in running down members of the far-flung band.

"Agents of the intelligence unit in Michigan undoubtedly are watching developments in this case for possible disclosures of income tax violations," Irey said.

Cummings promised McCreia he would send "G-men" into Michigan immediately upon receiving evidence of federal violations by Black Legion members.

Following a conference with Chief J. Edgar Hoover of the bureau of investigation, the attorney general asked McCreia to forward such evidence to the justice department.

Cummings said that, up to now, the alleged depredations of the Legion do not fall within federal jurisdiction.

Mass Execution Takes Place At Sing Sing Prison During Night

SECURED ONLY $70 IN CRIME KILLING

(International News Service)
OSSINING, N. Y., May 29.—Four youthful holdup men had paid the highest of all prices to-day for a robbery and murder that netted them a paltry $70.
The quartet—Vincent De Martin, 27; Frank Russo, 23; Charles Kropowitz, 22, and George Rosenberg, 22—were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing late last night in the third "mass execution" of the last 16 years.
Kropowitz was the first to enter the lethal chamber, being followed in rapid succession by Rosenberg, Russo and De Martin.
The youths were convicted of murdering Thomas Gaughan during the holdup of a barroom in Brooklyn the night of June 10, 1934.
Two women inmates of the death house were reported unnerfed by the quadruple execution.
One of the two, Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton, accused of poisoning Mrs. Ada Applegate, learned during the day she must die the week of July 13. The other was Mrs. Dorothy Sherwood who drowned her 2-year-old son.

A belligerent, rebellious group of Democrats on the committee were committed definitely against the presidential program, despite one White House conference and much administration pressure. They charged privately the presidential program would disrupt industry, destroy small business and prolong the depression. Some of them were opposed to any tax increases at the present time, demanding the administration slash expenditures as a substitute. This latter view was shared by Republicans on the committee.

De Schweinitz explained that the staff in the SERB units throughout the state will be standing by, awaiting telegrams from him ordering them to mail the already prepared checks and orders.

County Treasury Hours Changed

Hereafter Will Open At 8:30 In Morning And Close At 4:30 In Afternoon

With the consent of the county commissioners, County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland will change the hours of opening and closing his office, with the object in view of rendering better service to the public. Hereafter the office has been opened at 8 o'clock, the same as the others, with the closing hour at 4.

It has been found that there are very few people so anxious to pay their taxes that they will get out at 8 o'clock in the morning, and that some complain because the office is closed too soon. Beginning next week the hours at the treasurer's office will be from 8:30 in the morning to 4:30 in the afternoon. Thus the office will open a half hour later and close a half hour later than the others.

HARLANSBURG CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Distinguished by the fact that theirs was the first wedding to take place in the Harlanburg Unity Baptist church since it was built in 1852 (84 years ago) the wedding on Thursday afternoon, May 28, of Martha Irene Eakin of Harlanburg and Chester D. White of New Castle, R. D. 6, was a notable event.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock in a beautiful setting of palms, ferns and white lilies. Rev. Leonard Mathewson, who only recently became pastor of the church, officiated before an assembly of some 200 friends and relatives, many of whom were from New Castle and vicinity.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth McComb of Moody avenue, this city, and Forrest L. Eakin of Harlanburg, a brother of the groom, who was best man. Mrs. Delbert Eakin, cousin of the bride, presided at the piano, playing favorite nuptial melodies throughout the service, and also accompanying Monas Harlan, talented and well-known young tenor, for a group of two vocal solos.

For her bridal costume the bride chose a floor-length gown of white silk lace, sleeveless, and with a full tiered skirt, and a long white satin sash which fell to the floor. A band of gardenias adorned her hair, and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Miss McComb wore a summery frock of eyelet white organza over green taffeta, with full puffed sleeves, elbow length. With it a cluster of Talisman roses contrasted.

A wedding supper was served in the Harlanburg Inn after the ceremony to 17 guests, among whom were Mrs. Ida Forrest and daughter, Anna Margaret Forrest, of Edinboro, Pa. Table decorations were in bridal white with lilies of the valley and a bride's cake as decorations, together with dainty name cards carrying the nuptial motif and tiny wedding bells.

Mr. and Mrs. White are on an eastern trip, concluding which they will reside in a newly furnished apartment on Bellevue avenue, New Castle. The wedding conveyed distinct interest to New Castle, as well as Harlanburg friends of the young couple, as both are widely and popularly known. Mrs. White is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eakin of Harlanburg, former residents of New Castle. She is a registered nurse, a member of the 1935 class of Jameson Memorial hospital. For the past several months she has been employed at the hospital. Mr. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry White and is associated with the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company.

HONORING OUR WAR DEAD

AS THE state and the nation pause Saturday to do honor to the memory of the country's war dead, it is not inappropriate to give a thought to the cause of peace.

There are pessimists who see in conditions throughout the world now evidence that this cause has advanced but little since the establishment of the republic. True, war is abroad and suspicion and mistrust among nations hang like a dark cloud over a large part of the world. In some sections but a spark would be needed to set off a conflagration, and only the efforts of statesmen prevent this spark being struck.

At the same time, it is well to remember that never before was the cause of peace under such universal discussion.

Mankind has come to realize that war is an evil that needs to be banished. Wholesale slaughter of human beings no longer is looked upon as a glorious undertaking. War today stands outlawed in the minds of thoughtful persons. No effective way of abolishing it, however, yet has been found. But the very fact that it is under universal condemnation represents progress for the cause of peace. The advance toward the day when international conflict will be something unknown has been slow, very slow.

The fact that the abolition of war has become the goal toward which the entire world looks does not detract from the heroic deeds and sacrifices of those whose memory the nation on Saturday honors. The nation was born of bloodshed and it has not hesitated to defend with arms its right to existence and to the blessings attendant upon independence. But for those who gave their lives on land and sea to protect this right, it would have lost its independence and today be the vassal of some other nation.

For the country to permit itself to become a prey to foreign aggression would dishonor the memory of these heroes. Thus, while giving its aid to the cause of peace, it nevertheless remains prepared for any extreme course that may become necessary in preserving the heritage they gave us.

MAY IT BE SOON

Once the disputed features of the tax bill have been compromised and the deficiency bill, with its $1,425,000,000 for relief, disposed of, Congress should be in a position to keep its date with adjournment early in June. President Roosevelt is eager to wind up the session as expeditiously as possible and so are the members, who want to get home where there is work to be done. That makes it unanimous, for the end cannot come too soon for the country, which also has work to be done if Congress will permit.

The relief-deficiency bill, involving a total appropriation of $2,364,000,000, has been adopted by the House. Conference committees are to adjust controversial provisions of the $529,000,000 navy appropriation bill, which the Senate returned to the House with amendments. Concededly this legislation, involving a mere three billions, will be taken in its stride if the Congress is as intent as its leaders upon getting out of Washington before the conventions take over the front pages.

The promised adjournment, once optimistically looked for by May 1, will be welcome even if behind schedule. Business should not have to suffer the complications of a Presidential campaign and the uncertainties of a Congress session simultaneously. Taken separately they provide harassment enough; combined they would be almost insupportable.

HISTORICAL NOT POLITICAL

(From Philadelphia Inquirer)

Appropos his oratorical swing around the circle, set to begin on June 8, the eve of the Republican National Convention, President Roosevelt hastens to remove from the public mind the impression it has unaccountably gained that the scheduled expedition, at that particular time, has its political implications and is not unconnected with his personal candidacy.

To be great, as the adage has it, is to be misunderstood. Wise Plutarch has remarked that it is no wonder "if in long process of time, while fortune takes her course hither and thither, numerous coincidences should spontaneously occur." True, the Republicans assemble at Cleveland on June 9 and will continue their sessions while Mr. Roosevelt is making triumphal progress through the Bear and Lone Star States, winding up in Indiana at just about the time that the nominations are being made.

It is true also that he will have to speak more informally from rear platforms to crowds of the home folk down at the depots—being careful to keep the 1932 Democratic platform very far in the rear. And his set speeches at Little Rock, Dallas, Old Vincennes and points in between will be broadcast so that the whole country may hear what the President of the United States has to say while the Republicans are holding forth by the shores of Lake Erie.

But we have his own word to it that this is to be an "historical" and not a political pilgrimage. At Little Rock, where the centenary of the state is to be celebrated, Mr. Roosevelt will discourse on the early history of Arkansas, without a thought of putting in a good word for Senator Joe Robinson, who is up for re-election.

Texas is having a centennial celebration, too, and at the Dallas exposition Mr. Roosevelt will again turn his thoughts to the past. Then on to the banks of the Wabash, which will suggest not an explanation of Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary monetary policies, but a dissertation on the battle of Vincennes, which was won by the brave fighters from Virginia under George Rogers Clark long before Carter Glass was heard of.

A fortnight after his visits to these historic shrines Mr. Roosevelt will come to Philadelphia, where the most memorable of the nation's shrines is piously preserved. For in Independence Hall was framed the Constitution of the United States which every president must swear to "preserve, protect and defend."

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

ALFRED P. SLOAN, JR., who ought to know about American industry, says enormous building operations are needed in the United States to replace out of date equipment and that the door is wide open for "plenty of jobs and then more jobs."

He repeats, what everybody more than two years old should know, that the way to build prosperity is to pay good wages, and produce as cheaply as possible, encouraging greater consumption.

DOES ANYBODY suppose that we should have 25,000,000 automobiles running in the United States if that industry had been managed here as it has been managed in England, France, China and elsewhere? American mass production methods did it.

YOUR EVOLUTION IS NOW

I believe in evolution and so do you. You may say that you do not, but in fact you believe profoundly in it . . . or you are profoundly unhappy.

I do not mean that you believe in it precisely as Charles Darwin believed Darwin did. Not in the sense that we are "descended from monkeys" or from some older brother of the monkey. Not in that way. . . . But you do believe in a growth that goes on from age to age, from generation to generation. And you can't get away from that belief. It's part of you.

It's hard for me to believe that the Creator of all this, this earth with its mountains and its seas, its leaping tigers and shrinking violets, its men and women and little boys and girls, put it all together just as it is today. . . . It's easier for me to believe that this Power created His earth as a GROWING THING, moving to ward completion and perfection. That would be more fun for him and I believe even the Creator would not despise fun.

But even though we believe in evolution, we are inclined to think of it as something that's behind us or far ahead of us, and we forget that if evolution is a part of us—it is always with us NOW.

And whatever we do now, whatever we think and feel and dream, is a part of our evolution. We are a link, not a recess, in the long process of growing and becoming.

Keep that in mind and it holds us back from pessimism. It pulls us up from pessimism. It lifts us when we fall. It supports us when we weaken. . . . It transforms burdens into responsibilities, gives significance to drudgery, changes agonies into growing pains.

Believe always in that kind of evolution, here and now, and you carry within you a faith that is living force for happiness.

He elbowed his way through dozens of applicants, past private desks, directly into the office of the chief executive.

"Now, look here—," he began. He spoke forcefully, brushing aside all protests.

Ten minutes later, smiling scornfully at the waiting mob, he marched out. At last, he was on relief.

DEAR MISS MARKEL: I have just read your answer to Kitty F., who complained that frequently, when she telephones one of her life-long friends to announce that she will pay her a visit, the friend replies: "I am very sorry by Jack and I have planned to go to the movies." Kitty thinks this friend should either stay at home and entertain her or ask her to go along. Perhaps Kitty is "one of those" who invariably visit but never reciprocate. I know several of these spongers and am going to be out when they next call. Won't you please write an article advising them that if they issue invitations once in a while they might receive a warmer welcome when they make calls.

Answer: It is, indeed, irritating to have your friends accept your invitations time after time and yet make no motion whatever to entertain you in return.

Those who have no intention of reciprocating should not thus thrust themselves on their friends.

Why don't you try this same trick on "the spongers"? Call them on the telephone and announce that you will be over to spend the evening. After all, perhaps they expect you to pay a return call without the formality of an invitation.

British Analyze Roosevelt.
Commentator's Views Repeated.
Says Roosevelt Has Good Chance.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

IS IT INTERESTING to read the comment in foreign papers on the American political situation.

The London Times has had the most detailed account, the gist of which appears herewith.

All you read from here on is from the London Times.

Sir Arthur Wilentz, in the course of a detailed analysis of the presidential election campaign in the United States, writes:

"Nearly everybody who possesses or earns any appreciable amount of money seems to be against Mr. Roosevelt. The president, one is given to understand, is a radical and a danger to the existing order of society. There is much gossip about his health, in the sense that he is on the verge of nervous or physical collapse, or both."

"All this need not be taken over-seriously, even with reference to the presidential election next autumn. 'What you have been hearing,' said a famous veteran of American public life, 'will embitter more than it will influence the contest. It comes from the class that owns dinner jackets. Go beyond it to the places where the majority of the votes lurk and you will discover sentiment. I believe that the president will get back, though with a smaller vote than in 1932.'

"A long tour of the United States makes me ready to risk the forecast, that, barring the unforeseeable, the polls in November will prove my friend to have been right. And, what is more important, I found this to be the growing opinion of this spring even of some of those journalists and politicians who in public most loudly decry the government."

FARMING INTERESTS

"Mr. Roosevelt does not spare himself. He is at work in the morning early after an informal dinner the remark, 'I don't know what you people are going to do, but I must get on with my work' may well preface his good night to his guests. Indeed, one could not help feeling that one of the most valid criticisms brought against him is that he centers too much in his own hands. But responsibility rests lightly upon his nerves. He sleeps well. His eyes are clear. His complexion is that of a well-exercised, eucletic man. He patronizes regularly the swimming pool at the White House. He escapes occasionally on a fishing trip, if possible in southern waters. His interests are wide and varied outside his official preoccupations. Unlike President Wilson, but like Theodore Roosevelt, he is accessible and has many personal friends."

"Besides being a landed proprietor on the Hudson, where his family estate lies, Mr. Roosevelt is a farmer in Georgia, and takes an active interest in the large of the establishment he has built up in the same state around a spring that he himself has found beneficial. He collects naval and sea prints and pictures, many of which are on the walls of the White House. He has a Notable Nativities—Gilbert Keith Chesterton, 1874, mammoth-sized English novelist and essayist. . . . Josef von Sternberg, Brooklyn-born cinema director. . . . John Emerson, b. 1874, playwright. . . . Allan Roy Dafeo, b. 1883, physician who attended the birth of the Dionne quintuplets.

Today's Yesterdays: 20 Years Ago

Today—Patrick Henry was born in Hanover county, Virginia, of Scotch father and English mother. On his 29th birthday, in Virginia's House of Burgesses, he made the speech which led to the Stamp Act Congress and organized resistance to British taxation without representation; the speech in which occurs the celebrated phrase, "Give me liberty, or give me death."

May 29, 1826—Ebenezer Butterick was born in Worcester county, Mass., a farmer's son who was apprenticed in his youth to a tailor. About the time that he opened his own shop in Fitchburg, he got the idea that a set of graded patterns for children's clothes would be a great advantage to him and other tailors. After experiments, he cut his first saleable patterns in 1863, without realizing the enormous possibilities of his invention. Sales zoomed quickly to 50,000,000 a year and Butterick had the money to retire to ease and to tinkering which produced several other inventions, including a folding bed.

May 29, 1914—The big news of the day was the loss of 1,024 lives in the sinking of the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Ireland, which collided with the Danish collier Storstad in the St. Lawrence River. A major catastrophe may have a smaller impress upon human affairs than a few well-written paragraphs or notes of music, and the most significant happening on this day was the publication of the first installment of one of the greatest books of the 20th Century, Spoon River Anthology.

It's True—The oldest existing sport, except running, is bull-fighting. It started in Egypt, and only reached Spain thousands of years later via Rome and the Moors.

Crazy with happiness: Most lunatics are happier than normal persons, it has been established by keen eye for the oddities of life and, again like his cousin and predecessor, has an astonishing memory for facts and pertinent stories."

"SIX FEET OF MANHOOD"

"And if Mr. Roosevelt knows how to relax in private, he carries easily the public state, when he enters the room of a ceremonial occasion, that he is helped by a stick or by the arm of an aide-de-camp. One sees only six feet of forceful manhood, a massive head, a handsome, cheerful, dignified face set upon muscled neck and solid shoulders. He is a fine speaker, and his use of the wireless has become proverbially disconcerting to his opponents. He is a master of political appeal, as no other president has been except (if the parallel may once more be drawn) Theodore Roosevelt."

"In this he is helped by Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a Roosevelt by birth as well as by marriage, her father having been a brother of Theodore. She, too, understands publicity, and practices it to a great extent than the wives of other presidents have done. She writes regularly in the press; she talks on the wireless; she lectures. She is criticized for this. But one is inclined to think that she knows the practical side of her business better than her critics, and that she, also, has the dinner-jacketless vote pretty well with her."

The desire to STAY would be understood if we could go back and see how desperately our nomadic ancestors, forever wandering, longed for a fixed habitation.

A MAN confessed and was convicted of murdering an unfortunate woman under hideous conditions. His defense is insanity. His lawyer asked the jury:

"Are you going to go into your jury room and say, 'I don't care whether he is insane or not, kill him?'"

That is putting the question bluntly, and the answer, equally bluntly, should be "Yes." If a man is sane enough to earn a living, circulate among others, do everything in the usual way except refrain from murder, then the necessary thing, as a measure of safety, is to make certain that he will commit no more murders.

THE BRITISH House of Commons was divided Wednesday, not on any political question, but because one-half the members were at Westminster, the other half were at the race track watching the Derby.

Many Americans were also watching the Derby through newspapers. Millions had wasted money that they could not spare, buying tickets on a sweepstake.

THE USUAL few won prizes, elaborately advertised in newspapers, and the foolish many will continue sending millions to foreign lotteries.

Why does not the United States Postoffice prevent the exploitation of weak-minded Americans by foreign gambling enterprises? The British do it.

CATHOLICS in Germany and throughout the world have been warned for weeks of the coming prosecution of monks in various German monasteries on charges of "immorality."

Arraignment of two hundred and seventeen monks of various monasteries, all accused of gross immorality, is considered by German Catholics the beginning of a Nazi effort to eliminate the influence of the Catholic church in Germany. Complete control of newspapers and radio makes it impossible for those that deny the charges to reach the public eye or ear.

ON THE first day of the trial, a Franciscan monk named Steinfott, said to have confessed immoral depravity, was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary and loss of civic rights for ten years. Another monk was sentenced to five years in prison. Two youthful defendants for lesser terms.

A number of Catholic publications that announced the beginning of this anti-Catholic crusade, far in advance, say it is based on perjured testimony and "framed" evidence.

THE NATIONAL Socialist convention in Cleveland formulates "immediate demands," renounces the New Deal, demands a revision of the Constitution and an end of what is called the "usurped power" of the Supreme Court. In all these matters, others were ahead of the Socialists.

THERE HAVE been and there still are great bargains on this continent. The Indians that sold Manhattan Island for less than $50 did not make the worst bargain.

Seward was called foolish when he bought Alaska for less than eight million dollars, about two cents an acre. Americans have since taken enough good out of Alaska to pay for it thirty-six times over, and there is enough coal there to supply the United States for the next five thousand years.

Alaska also has copper, lead, zinc, quicksilver, tin, oil, manganese. If we have leisure, it might pay you to go up and look around.

THE INTERSTATE Commerce Commission arranged to let railroads in the East deliver and pick up shipments of freight. That would have been helpful to shippers and to the railroads, suffering extreme depression now.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, changing its mind, told the railroads they must not pick up and deliver. Once it had told Henry Ford that he must not cut the prices of his railroad and he got out of the railroad business. It is, perhaps, possible to do too much regulating?

Electricity output in England has more than doubled in 10 years.

Minister Greatly Benefited by Thompson's Barosma Tablets

"I have used Thompson's Barosma Tablets and find them a very fine medicine. They were not only beneficial to my kidneys and bladder, but also to my stomach and liver," writes Reverend J. Bagg, of Tintsville, Penna. "If you have any distressing pains or aches which you cannot understand, or feel all run down and out of sorts, it may be a sign that either the kidneys or intestines are not eliminating properly but are allowing poisons to remain in the body."

Thompson's Barosma Tablets will clean out your kidneys and help them to do their vital work of eliminating poisons from your system. Put an end to these mysterious aches and pains and restore your health. Golden-Lax Tablets should be used to regulate and tone up the liver and bowels. Thompson's Barosma Tablets 50c. Golden-Lax Tablets 25c, at New Castle Drug Co. and all drug stores.

Eckerd's Drug Store

My New York

By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Central Press Association

NEW YORK, May 29.—If I were Mayor of the City of New York (which Heaven forbid!):

I'd halt this showy and expensive nonsense about noise "abatement" and devote the energies of the secular arm to more productive ends.

For one thing, I'd tackle the traffic problem. Cops who failed to clear the cross town streets of illegally parked cars would find themselves cashiered. There would be no further coddling of trucks and their prehensile drivers. Trucks would be permitted to unload only at specified hours—at four a. m. or some other unearthly time if no other way could be found to keep them from paralyzing crosstown traffic in the rush periods.

There would be an immediate shift in the attitude of the police toward pickets who mass in front of the shops of honest taxpayers guilty of no crime, in order to harrass and jostle customers. Now the bluecoats do everything except serve tea to these gentlemen. The whole business of picketing amounts to the punishment of business without trial; it has never raised wages of honest workmen a dollar and it has no place in an orderly society.

I'd make one speech a year in which I would list the number of additional political jobs that had been created in the interim. I'd remark the increase in taxes and what the city offered residents for the additional expense. I'd wear a special, tomato-proof mask on this appearance.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars in trade are lost and thousands of hours wasted each year by ridiculous parades, marches and demonstrations. There is no reason why, in a nation at peace, the citizens should be harassed by every mob of exhibitionists in flashy uniforms or carrying banners of garbled protest which convince nobody, that happen to want to wear out shoe-leather up and down the boulevards. I would railroad through an ordinance taxing all such civilian show-offs $50.

a head for the privilege of disrupting normal business on any of the city's thoroughfares. Also, there would be made available to them several hundred acres of nearby swampy ground upon which they could strut and wheel and puff out their chests to their hearts' content without annoying normal human beings.

I would encourage free speech, but in the interest of the general welfare I'd force every Union Square and Columbus Circle soapbox crackpot to listen to a phonograph record of his own harangue for two hours a week. This would do away with the species in three months.

Motion picture and legitimate theaters would be forced to subscribe to an ordinance very much like the laws which prevail under the Pure Food status. They would therefore display labels that customers be not defrauded. Every theater would thus be required to exhibit a large sign in front, reading "Entertainment" or "Propaganda". The two are, of course, mutually exclusive.

Instead of manhandling the poiviny bushes in the public park, raking leaves and other such labors, the duty of whatever surplus labor the city employed would be to clean the streets of snow when it fell, keep the hospitals spruced up and in general devote themselves to work of some palpable use to the community.

I would try to get the pay of firemen raised. They are the least heralded and most efficient of all the city employees.

Every time a politician on my staff died or disappeared into Mexico, I'd abolish his job and donate his pay to hospitals and clinics.

But don't worry. I'll never be mayor.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Luke 22:19—"This do in remembrance of me."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above subject for May 31 is Luke 22:1-38, especially verses 7-23, the Golden Text being verse 19. "This do in remembrance of me.")

As in the old Testament church there were two sacramental ordinances, circumcision, the sacrament of initiation and the Passover Supper, the Sacrament of fellowship and memory, so in the New Testament we have baptism, the sacrament of initiation and the Lord's Supper, the sacrament of fellowship and remembrance.

The Roots Of The Lord's Supper
The sacrament of the Lord's Supper is deeply rooted in and grows out of the ancient paschal meal first celebrated by the Israelites in Egypt on the eve of their exodus from bondage, when in their haste to depart they prepared unleavened bread to eat with the lamb, which, for 15 centuries was to be the type of "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." When, in the fullness of time, our Lord was ready to offer himself as our passover, we read, "When the hour was come, he sat down, and the apostles with him. And he said unto them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer: for I say unto you, I shall not eat of it, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God." As the blood of the passover lamb, sprinkled upon the doors in Egypt, caused those trusting in it to be passed over, so, now Jesus says to his disciples, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood, even that which is poured out for you." Thus he tied up the old and new covenants and their respective sacraments of grace.

A Memorial Service
And he took bread, and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave to them, saying, This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me. And the cup in like manner after supper, saying, This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Thus as often as we eat and drink in obedience to his command we re-enact in pantomime the breaking of his body and the pouring out of his blood for the redemption of the world, and memorialize the Saviour of the world.

A Fellowship Of Love
This service is more than a memorial. It is a fellowship of undying love projecting its benefits of fellowship and union with Christ down through the ages until he shall drink it new with us in his Father's kingdom. It was his last will and testament in which he was bequeathing to his disciples and those who would follow them his spiritual presence with them through the ages "till he come." In its reception we are offered as St. Paul says, "the communion of the body and blood of Christ."

To this fellowship of love Jesus Iscariot, the betrayer, was utterly unresponsive. Although in a final appeal of love Jesus made Judas the guest of honor at the feast by singling him out as the one "for whom I shall dip the sop, and give it him." Judas refused to yield to the love thus specially offered him, and persisted in carrying out the betrayal of his Lord. So Jesus said, "The Son of man indeed goeth, as he hath been determined: but unto that man through whom he is betrayed!" "He then having received the sop went out straightway; and it was night"—not only in his material world, but spiritually it was night!

After the "learn to swim" campaign will come the annual 10-day Y. M. C. A. achievement school, conducted for boys whose interests incline toward brass tapping, metal work and woodwork. The school will be under competent direction.

The camp gates swing open after the achievement school closes, and a record attendance will enjoy the vacation season there. The rosters for the first two weeks of camp now are completely "booked up" and the next two weeks are fast filling up.

This week the office was the proud recipient of a letter from the Latham Foundation for the Promotion of Humane Education announcing that three Ne-Ca-Hi students have won awards in the eleventh annual International Humane Poster contest. This is quite an honor, both for the winner, and the school, considering that students from all over the world entered in this contest. The three students are: Jack Locke, Marian J. Patterson and Margaret Brenner. These contests are conducted, both from the standpoint of art value, and to give a better understanding of the principles of Humane Education, and should prove very beneficial to those participating in this contest.

Farley Remark Pleases Enemy

Terming Landon "A Prairie State Nonentity" Considered Very Inept By Republicans

IS CANDIDATE DEMOCRATS FEAR

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S. Street. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, May 29.—Postmaster General James A. Farley's ears must burn as Democratic politicians criticize, in strict confidence his recent reference to Gov. Alf. M. Landon as a Prairie state nonentity. Calling the governor a nonentity might not have been so bad. The implication, however, was that anyone who lives in the prairie state region, is ipso facto, a nonentity. Anyway, that is the interpretation which Republican spokesmen in congress are placing upon the P. M. G.'s remark, and Democrats are conscious that it is not an interpretation calculated to be at all pleasing to Prairie state voters. Maybe Farley intended his slur to apply only to Kansas, but Kansas isn't the only prairie state by any means. Eight or ten of them are so describable and Democratic candidates, from President Roosevelt on down, may need all of them on election day.

TOO EASTERN? Moreover, as the Democrats see it, the Republicans themselves could not have chosen a more Democratically damaging individual than Farley to speak slightly of the prairies. Democratic politicians all along have been uneasily aware that the P. M. G. as chairman of the Democratic national committee, is too emphatically eastern. And he represents a president who virtually is a Manhattan suburbanite. They know, too, that many New York City folk are regarded in the west as ignorant of the fact that there is any United States beyond the Hudson river. Now it is implied by Farley that this guess is correct—the administration does consider the prairies of no consequence.

FOOLISH Of course, it is foolish to say that the administration looks down on the prairie states; it really is very respectful of the west. Nevertheless, the P. M. G. gave offense. Newspaper comment and congressional speeches prove it. But the Republicans are delighted. They expect it to make plenty of votes for them—perhaps not enough to win with, but enough to be very helpful. And the cream of it is that it was a Democratic contribution.

AIDED LONDON Another thing: Farley is regarded as having practically clinched Landon's nomination at Cleveland. He recognized, in effect, that the Kansas governor is the Republican candidate whom the Rooseveltians fear. Farley did him more good than could have been done by any amount of pro-Landon propaganda.

ANOTHER ERROR Farley also took an indirect, unintentional jab at the Rooseveltian policy of experimentation. Landon, he said, would be an experiment. Considering the fashion in which President Roosevelt has insisted upon the experimental course in dealing with the depression, it is difficult to think of a more inept suggestion.

FARLEY SLIPPING? P. M. G. Farley generally has been called a shrewd political manager.

Democrats are beginning to wonder whether he isn't slipping. Republicans are hoping so. The Republicans' difficulty is that they haven't any substitute to offer. The Democrats seem to them as sellable but the Republicans haven't any shock troops.

NEGLECT OF CONSTIPATION* IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Delicious Cereal Corrects This Condition in a Natural Way

Immediate attention to constipation* is important for two reasons. It causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. It also tends to slow you down.

When elimination continues to be faulty, over a period of time, your general resistance may be lowered. And a weakened body is less able to fight off the infections that abound in every crowded place.

The most common type of constipation is that caused by insufficient "bulk" in meals. In Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, you have a delicious source of effective "bulk."

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass and gently cleanses the system. This tempting cereal also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into tempting muffins, breads, etc. How much pleasanter to enjoy this natural laxative food instead of taking pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

YOU WIN 3 WAYS

This Gasoline does 3 jobs at 1 time at 1 price (THE PRICE OF ORDINARY GASOLINE)

NO DOUBT you are putting your car in shape for that Holiday trip... Make the finishing touch a full tank of the new Triple-Action Tydol Gasoline. For here's a gasoline that not only drives your motor but oils and cleans it too!... And it does all "3 jobs" at the price you now pay for ordinary "1 job" gasoline.

Every single gallon of Triple-Action Tydol Gasoline contains both a patented top-cylinder oil and a carbon-solvent. Working together they oil and protect valves, rings and all upper motor parts. They keep down carbon, rust and corrosion...smooth out motor action and step-up motor results. That's why we say: "Tydol drives...oils...and cleans."

Remember, when you "scratch" ordinary gasoline off your list, you win 3 ways at once with Triple-Action Tydol.

TEACHING CITIZENSHIP

While lecturing before the teachers of Warren county, Pennsylvania, last fall, I met Miss Elizabeth C. Nelson, teacher in a one-room rural school, Waterford, Erie county, Pennsylvania. She was invited there to tell the rural teachers of Warren county how she is educating her pupils in citizenship.

At my request, Kathryn Hanson, current officer, grade 5B, age 9, Ireland school, wrote me from Waterford, Pa.:

"We have an E. R. H. club in our school. E. R. H. means Earnest, Ready Helpers, and are also the initials of our county superintendent, E. R. Hadlock.

"Our aim is to keep things clean inside and outside the school room, and make better citizens and to know before entering high school what it means to conduct and speak in organizations, such as junior grant and high school meetings.

"We elect officers once every month. Besides the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, there are the health doctor, fire assistants, police, fire captain, courtesy officer, class recording secretary, councils, monitors, ushers, clothing reporter and general captain.

"We have meetings every Friday, and programs every Wednesday afternoon. The boys have a program one week and the girls the next week. We have ball demonstrations, rope jumping and recitations.

Is Courtesy Officer

"I am now courtesy officer, and I have to see that the children say 'Pardon me', and so on, and speak correct English... The duty of the health doctor is to go around after the bell rings and see that your fingers, fingernails and face are clean and your hair combed."

From the minutes of a meeting sent me by Wilfred Shayko, secretary, I read:

"The health doctor reported that Alex's ears were dirty and he washed them. Tony's hair was not combed and he combed it for five minutes. Katy's arms were dirty and she washed them.

"New rules added to the by-laws were: No laughing at the mistakes of others. No tattling school affairs at home. Everyone must look at the flag while saluting it."

According to the constitution which Wilfred Shayko sent me, the general captain tells the children different games to play and sees that they play them fairly. The clothing reporter sees that children hang up their hats and coats and keep their rubbers in order. The monitor passes the waste paper basket and wraps at night. The usher goes to the door when company comes, sits up front during the chapel and empties the wash basin. "Laws must be made and made only when they become necessary." Here is a teacher who is working at something quite worth while, it seems to me. I still have on hand some copies of "A Prayer for Parents" to be had by sending me a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Please also enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope when you wish me to answer your letters. Thanks.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council met yesterday but did not take any action on a report that a man who is erecting a lumber storage place in Center street had violated the order of council which prescribed that he delay work until council could investigate the construction. However, it was learned during the council meeting that the construction is going ahead in accordance with the zoning law. The section is in an industrial zone and solons indicated they knew of no way they could prevent the fence and storage place being built.

William Tyrrell, traffic policeman, sustained an infection in one of his fingers while marking a car. He scratched his finger. An infection set in and Tyrrell now is doctoring.

Councilman James L. Fink has told council that he does not believe that aged men who are employed about the city building, should be permitted to climb ladders. One of them fell from a ladder, fractured several ribs and will be off duty several months, Fink said. He said that private industry would not permit it and council perhaps will issue an order to this effect.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

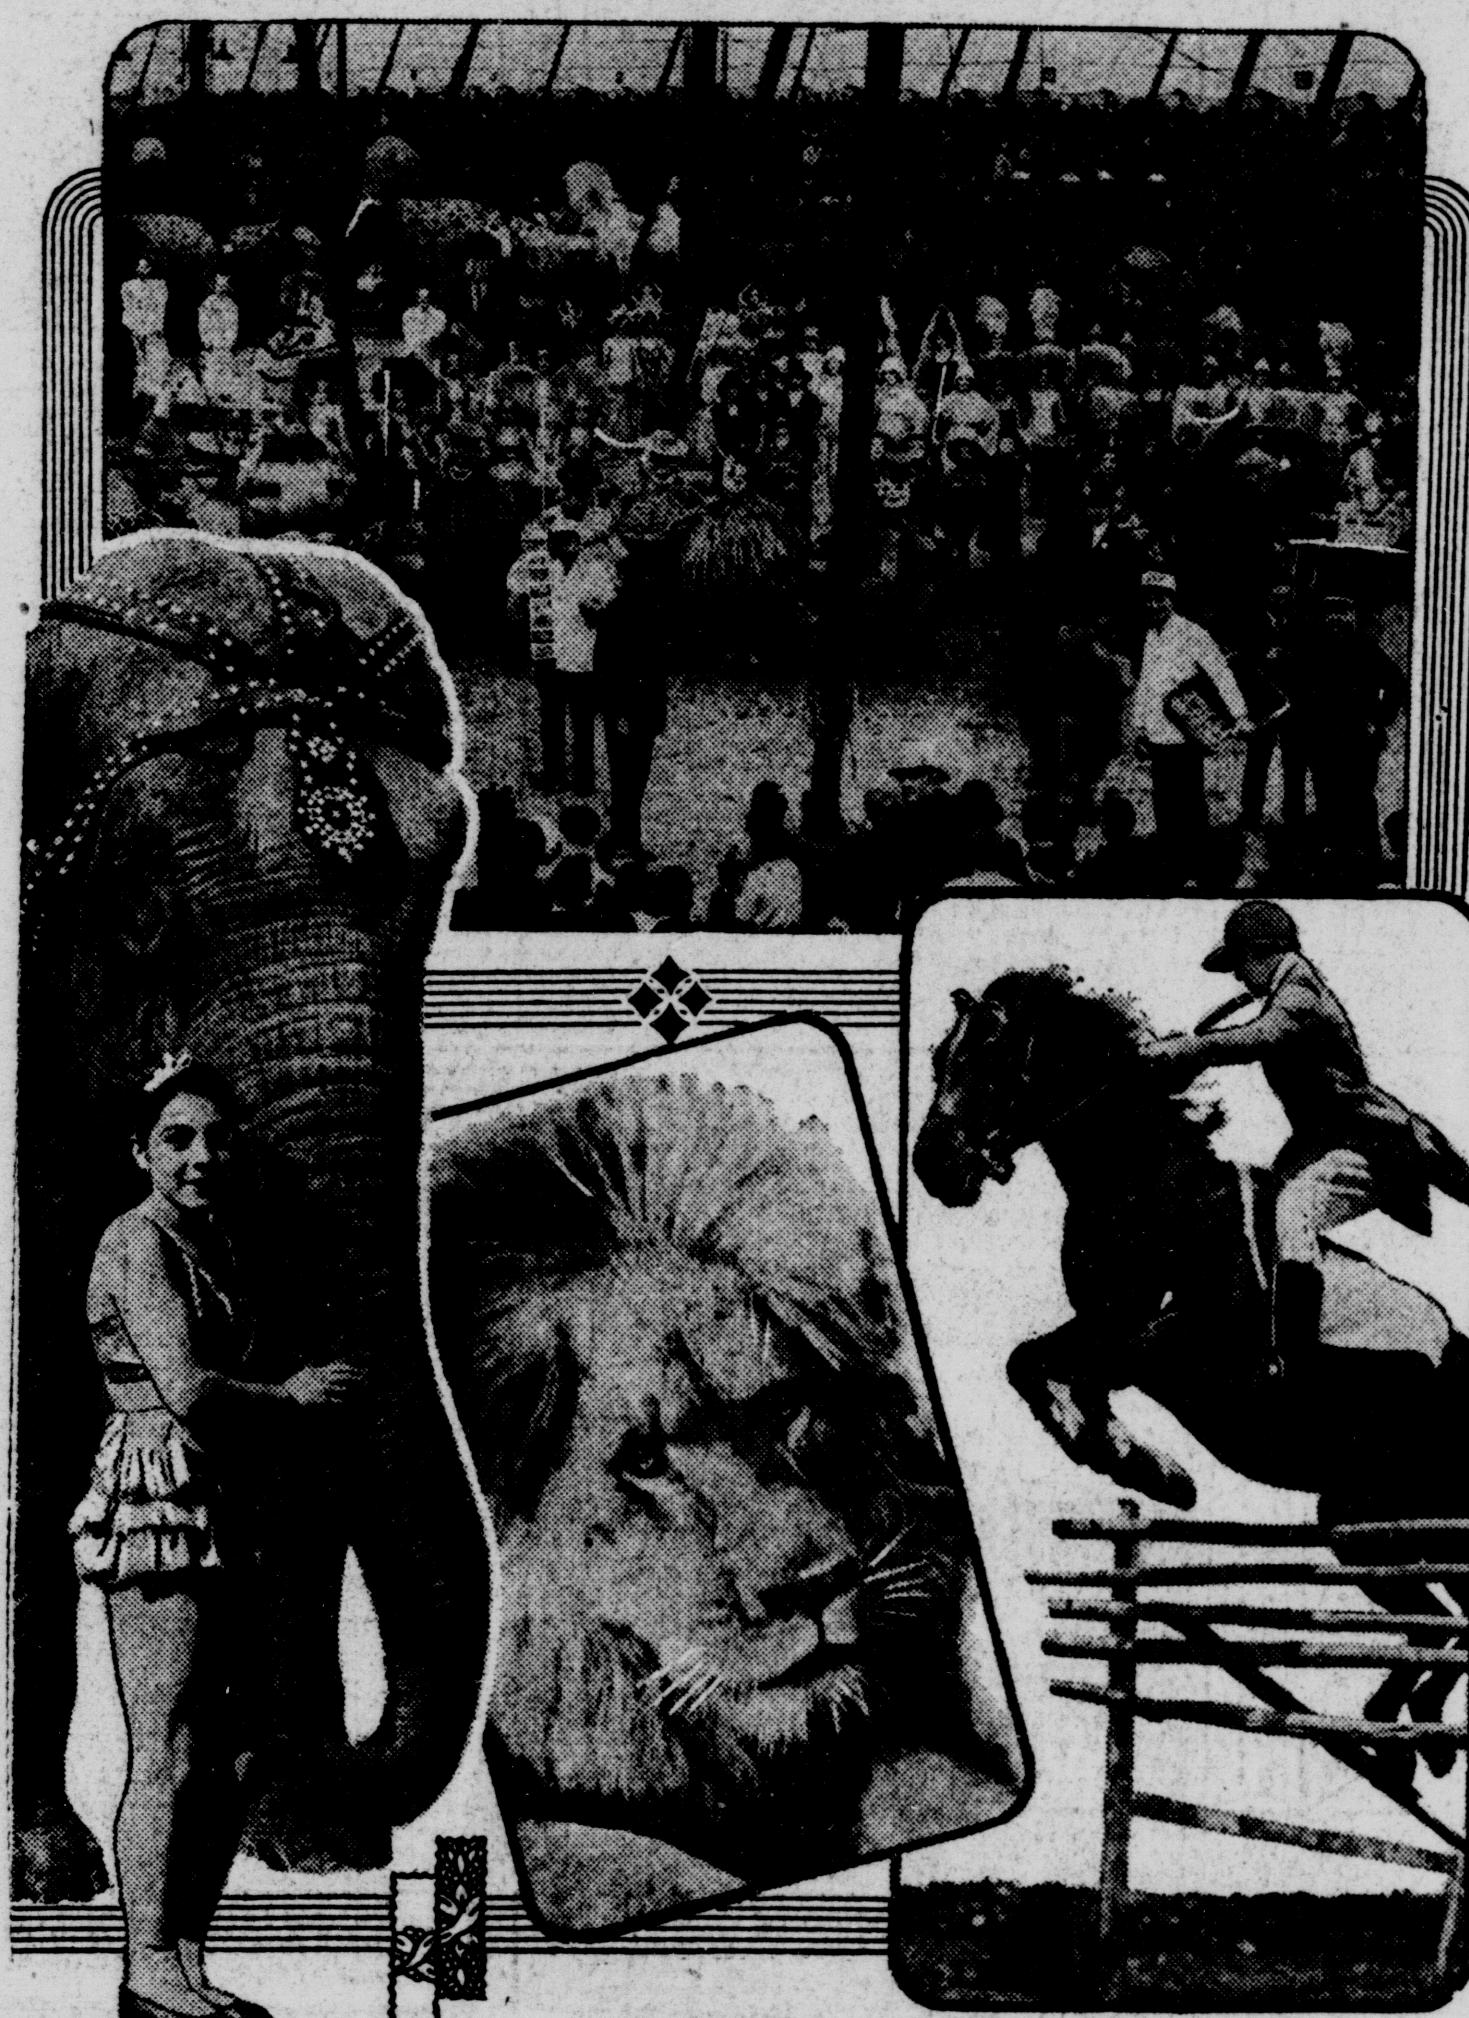

In 1776 there were only two ranks of officers in our navy, they were captain and lieutenant. Their pay was: Captain of vessels over 20 tons, $60 per month; captain of vessels carrying between 10 and 20 guns $48 per month. Officers below the rank of captain received from $3.34 to $30 per month. Seaman, $3.00 per month. Compared with the navy of today with its many advantages and its present rate of pay, which makes it possible for the newest recruit to be making more in one enlistment than a captain received in those days, seems to make one realize that the country has progressed and outgrown old ideas and customs.

It is possible to load a ship of the navy with fuel oil, steam to another port and have more oil remaining in the bunkers than when it left the previous port, and without refueling. This is possible when the distance is not too great and there is a difference in the temperature of the water of the two ports. Fuel oil as used in the ship of the navy expands when subjected to a small rise in temperature.

The United States navy will not enlist men in the service that are married, and will not allow married men to re-enlist who are not in the third pay grade or over. The rate of pay for the third pay grade is $72.00 per month.

In the three centuries that followed the inception of the African slave trade by the Portuguese in 1481, more than 9,000,000 Negroes were transported to other continents.

Circus Day Once Again

The circus is here!

No summer is complete without the annual miracle of the coming of the circus and sawdust tracks. Its wilderness of aerial rigging and contraptions, elephants, clowns, wire walkers, acrobats, dashing girl riders in fluffy skirts, horses and horses and more of everything than was ever put together before and labeled a circus.

Alarm clocks, set to interrupt dreams of the wildest of wild animals and dizziest of gymnastic performances, sent many a youngster tumbling from bed and off to the railroad yards before sun-up this morning. For the great Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty circus is in New Castle and camped on South Mill street.

In addition to the performance this afternoon, another exhibition will be given tonight, the doors opening promptly at 7 o'clock to permit an inspection of the world's largest zoological collection. On account of the length of the big show, it will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Trumpeting bands, tooting calliopes, rumbling wagons of red and gold took possession of the downtown streets shortly before noon when the street parade passed in review.

Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty is one of the world's largest amusement institutions.

Traveling aboard special trains the circus reached New Castle early this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad from McKeesport where it exhibited yesterday.

Among the arenic stars in the augmented circus of 1936 is Clyde Beatty, acknowledged the greatest wild animal trainer. He is presenting an entirely new act this season with 40 forest and jungle bred lions and royal Bengal tigers; his pretty wife, Harriet Beatty, presents a huge male lion and a Sumatran tiger taught to simultaneously ride an elephant.

The Zavaña troupe of nine Europeans, equestrians, the Zoeppe family, Spanish equestrians; the Flying Harolds, the Aerial Hightons, the Great Gretonas who ride bicycles on a wire in the dome of the big tent along with Harold Barnes, the juvenile dancing wizard on the tight wire, are other stars.

The "Serenade of Spain" a gorgeous, processional fiesta, depicting all the charm and romance of the golden age, serves as a prelude to the main performance.

The doors to the evening exhibition will open at 7 p. m. and will start promptly at 8 o'clock on account of its length.

The circus will depart at midnight over the Pennsylvania railroad for Akron, where it will exhibit Memorial Day.

Change Made In Ordinance

Council met in the city building Thursday where an ordinance was introduced, sent to and reported favorably from committee, which deals over about eight acres of Cascade park land to the commonwealth for armory purposes.

A similar ordinance was passed some time ago but because it had a reverse clause the adjutant-general's department stated the measure was not acceptable, inasmuch as the state cannot accept deeds which have a reverse clause.

The reverse clause was put in the first ordinance and deed owing to the belief that if the armory were not erected and maintained the land could be returned to the city.

FARMER IS FATALLY INJURED BY AUTO

OIL CITY, Pa., May 29.—John Garris, 60, a farmer residing near Blair's Corners, was returning from attending a firemen's convention at Parker's Landing when he was hit by an automobile driven by Floyd McCord, Emlenton. He died within an hour Thursday while being rushed to Oil City hospital.

McCord, his wife and two children were en route to Foxburg when the accident happened. Garris was unmarried.

There isn't much hope in a world whose leaders think the cry of "Naughty! Naughty!" will stop a conquering army.

On Court House Hill

Commission for Attorney Thomas W. Dickey as a notary public was entered at the register and recorder's office this morning.

Of the 104 applications for naturalization papers this week, 77 were granted. The balance were continued for various reasons, principally to allow the applicants to become better acquainted with our form of government.

The squirrel population on the court house grounds has been further increased by the birth of triplets. The other family, now about half grown, consists of quadruplets. Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has a picture of the Dionne quintuplets which he has hung in a window where the squirrels can see it.

Attorneys who have estates to settle say that they are having a hard time securing purchasers for properties which they offer at private sale. One of these sales was scheduled for yesterday morning, but no bidders appeared. Usually the sales have to be continued several times before a purchaser is found.

The county commissioners have received two requests from contractors who desire to bid on the proposed remodeling of the West Washington street bridge. Both requests are from well-known bridge building firms.

Will of the late Mary C. Truby, of Wampum, has been admitted to probate in the office of the register and recorder. It reads, "Inasmuch as my daughter, Nellie Mielke, has taken me into her home and cared for me, I leave all of my estate to her." Mrs. Mielke is also named as executrix.

When Register of Graves Thomas Edmunds, and Charles McCaskey went out to Normal Glenn cemetery in Shenango township, to place flags on soldiers' graves, they could only find three, although it is known that there are six soldiers buried there. The cemetery is grown up with weeds, bushes and tall grass. Many of the headstones have toppled over and the cemetery has a generally neglected and gruesome appearance. A Presbyterian church once stood near the site of the cemetery, but it has long since disappeared.

C. O. Earl, now for use of the Sharon Finance Company, Louis Davis, proprietor, has filed a writ of replevin at the prothonotary's office against Philip De Robbio, to secure possession of an automobile.

The eastern end of the Pinchot road, leading from West Pittsburgh to the New Castle-Elwood road, has been closed temporarily while some repairs are being made. It was so badly heaved up by the frosts last winter that at one place a section about fifty feet long had to be entirely torn out and a new base put in.

Under the will of the late Anna R. Orsborn of the second ward, George H. Bendel, who lived with Mrs. Orsborn and her husband, now deceased for sixteen years and cared for them, is left the homestead at the southwest corner of North Mill street and East Grant street, known as 233 North Mill street. Bendel is also left stock in the New Castle Mutual Building and Loan Association and Bell Telephone Co. All other stocks, bonds and securities are left to a daughter, Lillie M. Cuthbert, and a grandson, Jack Orsborn Cuthbert. The Union Trust Company is named as executor.

Judge James A. Chambers has continued a hearing in the non-support case against Wilhelm Rether of Scott township. At a former hearing Rether was directed to pay his wife $30 per month for her support and that of their daughter. In a petition recently presented Rether asked that this payment be cut down. He claims that he has asked his wife to come back to live with him but she refuses. His wife claims he is able to pay and does not want the payments reduced.

FALLS AGAINST TABLE IN HOME

Mrs. Anna Jordan, of East Washington street, was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital at 1:10 this morning, suffering with a laceration of the forehead, received when she tripped and was thrown heavily against a table. Her injuries are said to be not serious.

Wampun High Takes Baseball Title For Third Straight Year

Defeat Shenango High 4 To 3 In Fast Game At Wampun

Take Permanent Possession Of Handsome Trophy Cup, L. B. Hennon Coach

Wampun high school baseball team for the third consecutive year won the Lawrence county high school baseball championship by defeating the Shenango high team 4 to 3 in a fast game played at the Wampun high field. Coach L. B. Hennon is very proud of the Wampunites, with an undefeated record in the past three years.

Pontana hurled for the Hennonmen and pitched Wampun right into the championship with a six-hitter. St. John, on the rubber for the Shenangos, also pitched a six-hit game.

Wampun by virtue of the victory took permanent possession of the Lawrence county high school trophy cup, having won it three times in a row by excellent baseball achievement.

Fontana Comes Through. It looked bad for the Wampunites in the final game, however, as they trailed 3 to 2 going to bat in the last inning, and then the fireworks began. D. Fidell singled, Fontana doubled to left field and Fidell scored. Martin, a pinch hitter, bunted and Fontana raced for third. Snyder stepped to the plate and bunted one down the first base line and Fontana scored from third amid a cloud of dust and the ball game was in the "bag" for Wampun and such rejoicing you never did hear. Fontana was the hero of the game with his double that tied the score and Snyder came in for a lion's share of praise for his bunting, as did Martin.

Boston Bees Trim Giants In Twin Bill

Shove Giants Out Of First Place, Although Cards Lose To Pirates

CLEVELAND BREAKS LOSING STREAK

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 29.—Last year they were called—among other things—the Braves and under that misnomer they managed to set a new all-time high for defeats in one season.

This year, with the addition of a couple of Dodgers, they are known as the Bees, and as such are causing no little joy in Boston and no end of headaches around the rest of the circuit.

Today, by virtue of a double victory over the Giants yesterday, they are heading the second division and are within easy hailing distance of the top.

Berger Hitting. Whether the astute Bill McKeech accomplished this metamorphosis with or without mirrors is not known but certainly he has done it without much help from his two big side guns, Hal Lee and Wally Berger.

Until yesterday Berger's big bat had been a failure when hits would have meant runs. Had Wally been hitting in his usual form, the Bees would have won at least half a dozen more games than they have and would now be leading the league. How far they will go if he and Lee start hitting properly now, but the Bees certainly won't be worse than they are now.

Bees Take Two. Wally weighed in with four hits, including a highly useful homer, to give the Bees a 5-4 margin in the nightcap after Danny MacFadden had outpitched Hal Schumacher to take the opener, 4-3, and topple the Giants from the top of the league.

The Bees came behind in both games as did the Dodgers who used 20 hits, a six run rally in the ninth, six pitchers and 19 players to trounce the Phils, 13 to 10, in their terrific battle for the cellar position.

With Lon Warneke in grand form, the Cubs won the Reds, 11-5, in a game enlivened no little by a small sized riot among the players. As usual in all battles among ball players, the damage, if any, was negligible.

Pirates Win One

The Pirates tightened up the race by trimming the Cards again, 7 to 2, with Big Jim Weaver giving the roughhouse outfit only four hits. In the American League, the Yankees widened their margin over the Red Sox with a 10-6 victory for Pat Malone. Ostermuller, that prince of in and outers, had one of his out days and tossed his game away in the seventh when the Yanks put over six runs.

The A's, with Harry Kelley working, took the first game of a double-header from the Senators in the tenth, 4 to 3, on Moses' triple but blew the nightcap, 5 to 0, when Jimmy Deshong let them down with five hits.

White Hose Win. After old Goose Goslin had put the Tigers in front in the eighth by a homer with three aboard, the White Sox came back to score four in the ninth, and win out, 6 to 5. And Johnny Allen of the Indians got a 6-5 verdict over Jack Knott of the Browns when Bad News Hale also hit for the circuit with three on in the seventh.

Lawrence Loop Teams To Play Memorial Day

League Encounters Will Be Staged At Hillsville, Mahoning, Wampun

MEMORIAL DAY
Bessemer at Hillsville.
A. S. & T. P. at Mahoning.
West Pittsburgh at Wampun.

SUNDAY
A. S. & T. P. at Wampun.
Bessemer at Hillsville.
Hillsville at Mahoning.

Fans will see plenty of fast baseball when the six teams in the Lawrence County baseball league cavort in six games Memorial Day and Sunday, and indications are that when West Pittsburgh, loop leaders and Bessemer tangle, Sunday, there'll be an overflow crowd. Both teams have been playing good ball, with West Pittsburgh having quite an edge on the limestone aggregation. All games will start at three p. m.

Powell, outfielder, is leading the league in hitting, having been at bat 13 times. He has turned in seven hits and two runs, for an average of .538. He is trailed closely by Marshall, also an outfielder, of Hillsville, who has been at bat 15 times and has turned in eight hits and five runs, for a percentage of .533. The infielder, Huff, of Mahoning, holds third place with 16 times at bat, seven hits and three runs, for a .438.

A. S. & T. P.	2	2	.500
Wampun	2	3	.400
Mahoning	2	4	.333
Hillsville	1	5	.166

According to Secretary James Martin, all of the games have attracted large crowds. The players have been snapping into action and there has been a sharp rivalry on the field. This has come about through managers, who have told their players that the playing field is the place to play ball and not to play social calls on each other.

All of the scorers have been submitting accounts of the games to league officials, and as President Alec Samuels soon will distribute score sheets to the managers, it is believed that more complete accounts of what happens on the diamonds will be written.

Haynes 'Kicked' Away Chance To Climb Up Ladder

Could Have Knocked Carnera Out If He Had Taken His Time

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 29.—In the midst of all the blather about the strange case of the paralyzed leg-muscle or why prize fighting is a brutal sport, we all missed the main point of the proceedings, the other night, which was that the real loser was not Primo Carnera, the big pain in the—oh, yes—in the calf. The real loser was the official winner, Leroy Haynes, the assistant black menace.

He lost a fair, run-of-the-mill chance to become heavyweight champion before the close of the summer, assuming, of course, that he might have beaten James J. Braddock, and providing that Braddock is ever crazy enough to permit anybody to beat him except Joe Louis.

Anyhow, with Louis tied to one promoter and Braddock to another, a Braddock-Haynes title fight had been a possibility; had been, but now isn't. Nobody can figure to use an assistant black menace whose being committed to the idea that fulfillment was need nine rounds in which to give Primo Carnera an acute pain in the calf.

Haynes Excited. The fact that Leroy is neither as bad as they said nor as good as his three-sheeting, which didn't altogether feature the chaste touch of artistic restraint. Leroy's mistake the other night was of the mind, and his corner, rather than his equipment. Having won a three-round knockout the last time and being committed to the idea that the second one had to be faster, he went chin-crazy.

That's admittedly the place to hit

French Strike Grows Serious

Eight Thousand More Workers Join "Folded Arms" Strike In France

"WAR MUNITIONS" PLANTS AFFECTED

(International News Service)
PARIS, May 29.—Eight thousand more workers joined France's rapidly spreading "folded arms" industrial strike today, tying up munitions, airplane, automobile and radiator factories and increasing all-ready grave fears for the nation's "war industries."

With the entire country anxiously awaiting outcome of negotiations for a settlement, the important Citroen and Renault automobile factories, which also produce airplane motors, have now completely ceased operations.

Meanwhile, 150 workers' delegates from all the factories affected by the strike met at the Bourse De Travail to debate whether to adopt a tentative agreement of employers and employees to begin "peace" negotiations at 4 p. m. in the offices of the labor ministry.

The strike also spread to the building trades, halting progress in construction of the buildings for the 1937 exposition. Five cement firms were affected.

Although reinforced bicycle police patrolled Paris streets to prevent possible disorders, the Garde Mobile was not in evidence in accordance with an agreement between authorities and strikers. Since the bloody Stavisky riots of 1934, the presence of the Garde Mobile has been dreaded.

Strikers now demand a collective agreement providing workers' representatives on directorates, general pay increases, a 40-hour week, a two weeks vacation with pay annually and government regulation of the work of married women.

FRANKLIN WOMAN AT CENTURY MARK

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 29.—Mrs. Ellen J. Arnitt, Franklin's oldest woman, was 100 Thursday. But her health was such she could not have callers. During the last few years she became deaf and her sight failed.

To her it was "just another day," but she talked cheerfully with her daughter, Mrs. Teresa McClure, and her son, Thomas Arnitt, with whom she resides. For 65 years she has lived in the same house here. Her husband Thomas Arnitt, active in the early days of the petroleum excitement, died 35 years ago. Mrs. Arnitt was born near Sandy Lake in 1836.

ADMITTS CHARGES

William Johnson, colored, who was arrested on suspicion of being the man who frightened girls in the North Hill section, has admitted the charge, according to Police Chief Ralph Criswell.

Stock Market
Moves UpwardSeveral Issues Score Gains

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service Financial

NEW YORK, May 29.—The stock market moved upward in good fashion today in early trading, with several issues scoring gains running to more than 3 points, then quieted down in a narrow range slightly under the day's best levels.

Gold shares, steel and rails were leaders on the upswing, which was helped along by additional favorable business news. Trading was curtailed, however, as Wall Street continued to keep a watchful eye on the tax situation in Washington and developments in France ahead of that country's currency.

Dome Mines was one of the outstanding issues on the board, soaring 3 points at one time to 61, an all-time high for the stock. McIntire advanced nearly 2 points and Alaska Juneau ruled well above its previous close on an active turnover.

Steels and rails were in fair demand, the latter aided by continued bullish news for the nation's carriers and the former being helped by the optimism of steel leaders. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and N. Y. Central each gained a point before reacting slightly, while Great Northern preferred was up nearly 2 points.

Louisiana Oil preferred spurted more than 3 points, and J. I. Case about as much. American Can, though, lost a point and American Telephone half as much.

Trading in the motors, utilities and oils was comparatively light, with leaders here showing small fractional gains on the day. Chemicals lagged.

Bonds were led upward by industrial liens. Grains moved fractionally higher. Cotton continued steady.

Indiana State
Teachers College

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., May 29.—Indignation at the alleged injection of politics into the administration of the school in the ousting of Dr. Charles R. Foster, president, today threatened to bring about resignations of other faculty members of Indiana State Teachers College.

The removal of Dr. Foster brought dismay to members of the faculty and student body who had not already left for the summer vacation.

First notice of his dismissal came to the prominent educator when he was shown a terse statement issued by William F. Smith, secretary of the trustees, to the newspapers. It read:

"The office of the president of the Indiana State Teachers College has been declared vacant as of August 31. No one has been considered for the post."

Dr. Foster immediately issued a statement scoring Attorney General Charles J. Margliotti for attempting to influence the school's purchases and teaching staff and deploring the encroachment of the "patronage or political system into educational institutions."

For years associate superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, Dr. Foster had been president of the teacher's college for more than a decade.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

TRAINING THE COLT EARLY IS OF IMPORTANCE

Better results will be obtained if training of the colt is begun at an early age. Foals that are handled and broken when young take the presence of man as a matter of course and are easily approached in the pasture and in the stall.

Failure, to halter, brush and handle the feet and legs of foals when young may cause trouble later.

When 5 to 6 months old, the foal should be weaned. Foals should not be allowed to run with older horses during the first winter because of competition for available feed and possibility of injury.

Liberal feeding and plenty of exercise are essential. The horse is naturally an outdoor animal. Its ill begin with close quarters, poor feeding, and lack of outdoor exercise. Successful horse-raising depends on conditions made as natural as possible.

OVERHEAD IRRIGATION FOR GARDENS POPULAR

Probably the most unsatisfactory way to water a vegetable garden is with a hose and ordinary nozzle. The water is applied too rapidly and often with too much force so that puddling occurs on heavy soils.

Usually the gardener also does not have the patience to apply sufficient water to penetrate the soil 6 to 8 inches deep. Frequent, light watering is often detrimental rather than beneficial.

The ideal way to water is to apply the spray so lightly that no puddling or crust will result and have the moisture penetrate the soil to the depth desired. After the surface dries sufficiently, practice shallow cultivation to control weeds and conserve the deeper moisture. Where water under pressure is available near the garden, a portable overhead system may be cheaply installed.

This system consists of a 3-4 inch galvanized pipe as long as the vegetable rows up to 100 feet. Irrigation nozzles are obtained and installed in the pipe three feet apart in a straight row. Place a plug in the far end and install a close nipple in the other end threaded at one end and at the other end for 3-4 inch hose connection. This completes the irrigation system.

Place this pipe on 6-inch blocks or 12-inch home-made wooden tripods. By turning the line slightly the direction of the spray is changed. This system will irrigate an area as long as the pipe and 25 feet on each side of the pipe. The connection between faucet and irrigation pipe is ordinary 3-4 inch garden hose.

This simple system will last many years. It is usually left outdoors all winter but should be thoroughly drained in the fall.

AVOID COMMON ERRORS IN THE ROCK GARDEN

In planning rock gardens several common errors should be avoided.

Never stand rocks on end. Rocks so assembled do not appear natural or permanent. Freshly cut or unweathered surfaces should never be exposed. All rocks so assembled should appear as having been there for a long period of time. A rock garden should not be a museum of fancy colored or uniquely designed stones. Native stones should be used. Rocks of similar color, form, and texture are much better than rocks assembled from various sources. Use good-sized rocks in preference to small stones, which appear very artificial.

Always use sun-loving plants in a rock garden which has a sunny exposure and shade-tolerant plants in a shaded rock garden. Never permit vigorous growing plants to take possession of the rock garden; keep such plants cut or thinned out. Avoid or annual flowering plants in combination with dainty alpine.

Locate the rock garden in a proper setting. Avoid placing the rock garden on a level front lawn area. Always use hardy plants which are tolerant to existing conditions. Remember that mistakes which are made can always be corrected. Plan carefully and work slowly toward perfecting a rock garden which will be recognized as an outstanding achievement of the person responsible for the construction. Study nature and plan to imitate nature on a small scale.

FEED CORN FODDER OR USE TO STOP GULLIES

A great deal of corn fodder left in the shock this spring has been or will be turned, simply to get it out of the way.

A much better plan is to scatter the fodder on the poorer parts of the pasture. The cattle seem to enjoy picking it over, even when the grazing is good, and it will do much to thicken and improve a thin pasture sod. This effect seems to be due partly to the addition of fertility and partly to the protection and shading of the ground by the old stalks. Poor sods on which fodder is fed in winter always thicken and improve. Consequently, the fodder should always be fed if possible on the thin spots.

Another splendid use for old fodder is to fill up washes and gullies so that they can be crossed with farm machinery and to prevent their further enlargement. In gullies which receive a large amount of water it may be necessary to drive a few stakes through the bundles to prevent their washing out. If one starts at the bottom of the wash and laps the bundles with butts down the slope, tramping them in firmly, they are not likely to wash out.

Bundles of fodder are also conveniently available material for making check dams across the larger washes. When used in this way they must be staked securely and must extend out far enough so that the water does not cut around the end and enlarge the wash. Such dams are, of course, very temporary but may help greatly to catch and hold soil washed into the gully. Such soil must be covered with grass or some other growth as quickly as possible in order to hold the soil together. The dams can be placed, the better, since material of this kind cannot be expected to hold any considerable head of water. Being porous, fodder dams allow the water to escape gradually.

EAT TWO FRUITS A DAY AND PRESERVE SOME TOO

Are you serving two fruits daily to your family? With native fruit in most gardens and home-grown strawberries just a few weeks away, every farm homemaker can easily meet this health requirement says Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative.

Fruits have appetite appeal chiefly because of their color, texture and taste, but they also supply our bodies with sugar, minerals, vitamins and roughage.

To start the day right nothing is more delicious than a dish of baked or steamed rhubarb for breakfast. Unhulled strawberries served with powdered sugar make an ideal breakfast fruit, too.

Both dinner and supper these fruits may be served plain or mixed with other fruits in dessert. Strawberry shortcake—it makes one's mouth water to think of it—but have you ever tried rhubarb shortcake? These fruits combine nicely with cereal puddings, such as rhubarb or strawberry with tapioca, or cereal puddings with strawberry or rhubarb sauce. Pies, tarts, and turnovers are excellent when made with these fruits. Baked custard served with crushed strawberries is a treat to any family.

Pieces of stale cake or cookies will never be recognized if covered with rhubarb or strawberry sauce and topped with a bit of whipped cream. An excellent sauce to pour over fresh cake can be made with four egg whites beaten stiff to which is added eight tablespoons of powdered sugar and beating continued. Finally, add two cups of crushed strawberries and pour over the cake just before serving.

A surplus of either strawberries or rhubarb may be canned or made into preserves to store away for use next winter.

Canned rhubarb is easily prepared. Cut rhubarb into cubes, cook in medium syrup (1 cup to 2 cups water) until tender. Pack in sterilized jars, completely seal, and process five minutes in hot water bath.

To can strawberries, add 1 cup of sugar and 2 tablespoons of water to every quart of the hulled berries. Boil 15 minutes. Allow to stand overnight in the kettle. Reheat to boiling and pack into sterilized jars, completely seal, and process five minutes in a hot bath. Canned fruits serve in many ways to solve the winter dessert problem, as many a home-maker will testify.
